

Creating pathways to college, employment and entrepreneurship for Compton youth through engagement with education and the arts.

FAMILY + FUN + LEARNING + GENEROSITY + RESPONSIBILITY

ACCESSIBILITY STATEMENT

Uneath and Empower Communities (UEC) complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). UEC ensures all employees, volunteers, members of partnering organizations, and participants with any disability, including physical or mental limitations, are able to access all UEC programming. UEC develops effective communication strategies providing auxiliary aids and services to people who have hearing, sight, or speech disabilities. UEC provides a website that is accessible to a wide audience, regardless of technology or ability. UEC is actively working to increase the accessibility and usability of our website and in doing so adhere to many of the available standards and guidelines. For all of our in-person programming, UEC ensures that all people can participate and have physical access to our programs. UEC removes physical barriers to its facility maintaining access to accessible spaces. Arrangements are gladly made for anyone that requires additional assistance. Door entrances and bathrooms are ADA compliant. For printed materials and digital content, UEC is committed to accessibility. Online information is accessible and is 508 compliant. If people have any problems accessing this material, they can contact UEC and we will accommodate their needs. UEC believes in modifying practices and policies to prohibit discrimination. To address social and racial equity actively involves people who have disabilities in all programs. UEC understands that social and racial equity is achieved when every person has the opportunity to attain their full potential and no one is disadvantaged from achieving this potential because of social or physical position or other socially determined circumstance.
